Principle of operation

Previous generation products

Principle of operation

The DFCV is a V-shaped dry cooler that cools the warm process fluid (1) that circulates inside a finned coil (2). Axial (3) fans draw air (4) over the coil and cools the process fluid inside the coil (5).

Want to use the DFCV cooler to cool your process fluid? Contact your local BAC representative for more information.

